Subject: Water Conservation Requirements

The water board needs to consider future requirements that effect small water systems (utilizing less than 5 acre feet annually) when you issue blanket mandates and reporting requirements. In most cases the small water systems are operated/maintained by property owners or personnel that are not familiar with the operation of large water systems. You need to either exempt us or correspond with us separately by correspondence that puts your requirements in layman terminology that everyone can understand. We don't want to waste your time or ours when attempting to comply or respond to requirements that do not apply to us. We all recognize the need to conserve water and I am sure that most responsible people are doing all they can in this effort.

Sincerely
Ronald Brown
