

Right now the Kern River just looks like a dry river bed thru town and it would be nice to see water in it for a change. We have a bike trail that goes right along the river from Hart Park to Highway 43 which many people enjoy and putting water back in the River would make it that much nicer. I'm sure the wildlife would also like water back in the river. Not too long ago we had a beaver chopping down trees at one of the parks right next to the dry Kern River he also might enjoy water in the river. What ever answer you people come up with I am sure will be the right one as you are on the Board for the best interest of the people of California.
