Dianne,

Attached are my comments on Tom's Newland's write-up.

Reasons for the changes:

Much to Some, overall most of the flow in the Carson River does make it to Lahontan. It's during irrigation season that a large portion of the Carson is diverted. ..

"diversion is discontinued when reservoir storage is forecast to meet or exceed the target at the end of the month." This was deleted because Truckee River diversions are part of the forecast and diversions are not necessarily discontinued.

"and below Derby Dam" This is a big benefit for Pyramid Lake fisheries. Don't have to use Fish Water to maintain a constant flow below Derby during the spring.

ummmm, Tom, no talk of shortages. less carryover storage satisfies me.
