Dear Mr. Parks:

I don't think it's reasonable that domestic water customers should have to undergo water rationing so that cabin owners and campers can paddle boat on Pinecrest Lake. The State Water Resources Control Board needs to consider domestic use as more important than recreational use. While it is true that TUD needs to invest in additional capital improvements, these are very difficult in today's economy. There are also serious environmental and easement issues related to piping the ditches. Allow the historic management of the lake.
