Ingenious,, the way the Agenda buried my numerous letters to this body, now under court order for filing in the Monterey Superior court. I tried, but cannot retrieve them through the maize as set forth in the Agenda.

Recall, that I referenced scientific articles in the correspondence that proved that the health safety tests for the Pure Water Monterey(PWM) product will not test for the pathogens likely to slip thru the PWM system. Per the State Water Board panel of experts, those tests will not even be up for approval until 2023. At this time there are no labs in the state that test for the suspect pathogens on a regular schedule.

Just to be clear: although PWM represented the opposite in its EIR and to the CPUC, there has never been a recycle of agriculture waste water to drinking water project in the U.S. The DDW has not undertaken any research into the safety of such a project; to that extent it is an experiment. Not a single medical expert has been hired to give an opinion on the health safety of the project. Just as this effort to hide my correspondence from the new judge in the Basin case, PWM has been careful at every turn, to assure that the downside of the project has not and will not be part of the narrative.

Jim Johnson, a reporter for the Monterey Herald has been extremely careful to edit the scientific concerns out of the public's view. I have copied him about those concerns.

My sole request has been for PWM and the Basin group to hire one or more neutral health experts re the health safety of the PWM product under the supervision of the judge in the local Superior court case.

Such experts are widely available: micro-biologists, chemists. MD's et al. all experts in the safety of recycled waste water for potable purposes. The refusal to hire such experts and the cover up shows a lack of confidence by the PWM and DDW staff about the safety of the upcoming product.

PWM and DDW contend that if the recycled water passes the current tests, they are in the clear; in spite of the over-whelming scientific evidence that the tests are inadequate and their refusal to obtain an opinion from such a qualified medical expert.

I have set forth the scientific evidence that questions the safety of the PWM project, but have been shut out by the press and now this hideous attempt to prevent the new judge from even know about that part of the narrative.

I have an old, old body, and can no longer fight for safe drinking water. But if the PWM causes health problems, death etc., those responsible must be indicted and brought to justice(like Flint. Michigan criminals). The main suspects are Paul Sciuto, of Water one Monterey and David Stoldt of the Monterey Bay Water management District. Randy Barnhard was the DDW engineer that permitted the project, in spite of the fact that he was very familiar with all of the expert opinion against the safety of the project. Administrators in Sacramento are well aware of the risks. That should be a good start toward indictments..

This body has the ability to make sure that my correspondence(which was ordered to be filed by the prior judge)is filed in fact, not by reference to some distant or non-existent internet site. You should review the correspondence and vote on hiring a true medical expert for an opinion about the health safety of the PWM water and whether current scheduled tests will be reasonably safe. This project is so Nuts, that I am shocked that it continues. The only reason that the product will be cheap is because it by passes the cost of adequate testing(because those tests are not scheduled for approval until 2023).
